England's Biggest Football Player

by Ben Robbins

There are many football players in the world. But 13-year-old Latabe is England's most unusual football player. What is special about her? Latabe is the biggest football player in England. She is an elephant!

Lewis Hudson works at a safari park, where Latabe lives with other animals. After work, Lewis and his friends like to play football. One day, they kicked the ball to Latabe and what a surprise — she kicked it back. Lewis then decided to teach her how to play football.

But playing football with an elephant isn't easy. "The ball we use when Latabe plays is much bigger and heavier than a normal football," says Lewis. "When she runs, we get out of the way!"

Subject: My neighbor Bobby

Hi Fred!

Do you remember I told you about my neighbor, Bobby, who can't see? Yesterday I saw him reading a book. I was so surprised! How can someone who is blind read? So I asked him about the book he was reading. He told me to touch the pages. It's so cool. There are little raised dots* on the page. You can really feel them. He told me that blind people read with their fingers and not with their eyes. This system for reading and writing is called Braille.

I wanted to know more, so I looked up Braille on the Internet. Here is the link I found: www.braille-info.com.

Mark

Louis Braille was blind from the age of 3. In 1824, when he was 15 years old, he developed a system for blind people to read by touching groups of raised dots. Each group of dots is one letter of the alphabet or a number. The Braille system was named after the man who developed it.

Braille has many uses. For example, it is used in elevators and at bus stops. Thanks to Louis Braille, blind people all over the world can do more things by themselves.

There were many children in his kingdom*. How 5 could he find someone he could trust? He decided to have a competition. He sent a letter and a seed to all the children.

10

I am old. I have no children. I'm looking for the right person to be the king after me. I'm sending you each a seed that will grow into a plant. Put this seed in a pot and do your best to grow a plant. After three months, bring it to me. I will then decide who will become king when I die.

15

Ping, a 14-year-old boy, was very excited because he was good at growing plants. He put his seed into a pot and filled it with good earth. He gave it water every day and he waited for the seed to grow into a beautiful plant.

Days passed, but the seed didn't grow. Ping put the seed into a bigger pot with richer earth. Nothing happened. Ping continued to care for the seed. He gave it plenty of water and sunlight, but still nothing grew.

25 After three months, all the children took their plants to the king's palace. Ping walked in with his empty pot and the other children arrived with beautiful plants. They laughed at Ping's empty pot. Ping was upset. "Why didn't my seed grow?" he wondered.

30 When the king saw Ping he asked, "Why do you have an empty pot?"

Ping answered, "I planted the seed. I did my best, but nothing grew." The king smiled and said, "I found the only honest person!"

35 Then he explained to everyone, "Before I gave you the seeds, I cooked them, so they couldn't grow. I don't know where your plants came from! Ping will be the king after me."
